FOREWORD

2007 is undoubtedly a year of many uncertainties. This has inevitably affected the local economy, overall business expansion and hence general employment situations. We observe a drop in demand for general staff whilst requirements for specialists in areas of banking/finance, pharmaceuticals, engineering and technology remain strong. Employers continue on their search for talent, and are prepared to competitively reward and retain high-caliber employees.

This guide is a compilation of salaries and job titles across the wide range of industries we service. The data consists of actual information we received and recorded from candidates we have assisted and placed.

We hope that this guide will be adequate as a reference tool for developing your recruiting and retention strategies, and as a benchmark against other industries.

Best Wishes!
